BOARD GAMES - DID YOU KNOW?

1. Scrabble's 50th Anniversary in '88, a giant game was played in Wembley Stadium.
2. The longest game of Monopoly went on for 70 days.
3. The phrase "back to square one" might have been inspired by Chutes and Ladders.
4. The party game Uno has more than 50 versions. For instance, the game comes in a special deck of Avengers, Angry Birds, Doctor Who and The Simpsons, among others.
5. Two journalists invented Trivial Pursuit in 45 minutes after being shocked at the price of a Scrabble set.
6. Senet, found in Predynastic and First Dynasty burials of Egypt, c. 3500 BC and 3100 BC respectively, is the oldest board game known to have existed.
7. Operation was invented by a sophomore at the University of Illinois in 1962 as part of a class assignment to invent a game or toy.
8. Following chess, checkers, backgammon, Monopoly, and Scrabble are among the top five most popular board games.
9. Milton Bradley (November 8, 1836 - May 30, 1911) was an American business magnate, game pioneer and publisher, credited by many with launching the board game industry, with his eponymous enterprise, which was purchased by Hasbro in 1984, and folded in 1998. Vienna, Maine, U.S. Springfield, Massachusetts, U.S.
10. A schoolteacher created Candy Land in 1949 to brighten the day of children confined to a San Diego polio ward.

BONUS FACT: The name Jenga is based on the Swahili word meaning "to build."

AUNT AMIE'S LEMONADE - My sister and I spent a week each summer with our Aunt Amie, who always had this thirst-quenching lemonade in a stoneware crock in her refrigerator. It makes a refreshing drink after a hot day of running around.

INGREDIENTS

- 5 lemons
- 5 limes
- 5 oranges
- 3 quarts water
- 1-1/2 to 2 cups sugar

Lemonade

DIRECTIONS

Squeeze the juice from 4 each of the lemons, limes and oranges; pour into a gallon container.

Thinly slice the remaining fruit and set aside for garnish. Add water and sugar to the juice mixture; mix well. Store in the refrigerator. Serve over ice with fruit slices.

"The morning heat had already soaked through the walls, rising up from the floor like a ghost of summers past."

Free Yourself to Be Happy - Celebrating the success of others deepens your own happiness.

We all want to be the kind of people who are happy for others when they experience success or a cause for celebration in their lives, but it isn't always easy. Some times powerful, dark feelings come when decorum dictates we should be feeling the opposite; instead of reaching out and celebrating our loved one, we feel the rising up of our own pain.

This pain may arise because we feel jealous about someone having something we don't. It may arise because our friend's success will lead to us losing them in some way. Or it can arise for reasons we don't yet understand. The important thing is not to brush it under the rug but to take it seriously and look at it; suppressing it will only make it worse.

At the same time, we need to be sure to find a way to congratulate our friends and celebrate their successes as if they were our own.

The struggle with being happy for others presents itself early in life.

If a child wants a toy and another child has it, the child will try to get it or will break down in tears. Those primal feelings are still present in most of us, and we have to acknowledge them when they arise.

It can be a difficult balance when we find ourselves suspended between wanting something and throwing a party for our friend who got it. Yet it is in throwing the party that we share in the joy, rather than cutting ourselves out of it.

8 things to remember when going through tough times.

1. Everything can - and will - change.
2. You've overcome challenges before.
3. It's a learning experience.
4. Not getting what you want can be a blessing.
5. Allow yourself to have some fun.
6. Being kind to yourself is the best medicine.
7. Other people's negativity isn't worth worrying about.
8. And there is always, always, always, something to be thankful for.

SUMMER GETS HOT HOT HOT!!

Keep your pets cool this summer by following these simple tips:

- Always have fresh clean water available for your pet.
- Make sure your pet has all day shade outside and a fan or air conditioning inside.
- Allow your pet to sleep in a cool area, such as the basement.
- Take advantage of the lake! Take your dog for a swim on hot days!
- Never leave your pet unattended in a vehicle on hot days.
- If you must take your pet in the vehicle, ensure the air conditioner is on or the windows are open to allow a good breeze.
- Walk pets early in the morning or late at night when it is cooler.
- Brush your pet on a regular basis to keep his coat free of winter hair.
- If your dog displays signs of heat exhaustion, call the vet immediately and get them into a cool bath and allow small sips of cool water.
